Docteur: Good morning. Sit down.

Mrs Barton: Good morning, doctor. Our daughter Helen is horrid.

Doctor: Really?

Mrs Barton: Yes... She never does her homework before playing and she always plays too long with her video games. And she never clears the table after meals.

Doctor: I see... Does she often talk with her mouth full?

Mrs Barton: Always! It's horrible!

Doctor: Does she sometimes wash her hands before meals?

Mrs Barton: No! Never! She never washes her hands!

Doctor: She is horrid. I know what she needs!

Mrs Barton: What?

Doctor: A perfect friend! Perfect Penny!

Docteur: Good morning. Sit down.

Mrs Thompson: Good morning, doctor. Our daughter Penny is perfect.

Doctor: That's not a problem!

Mrs Thompson: Oh yes, it is. She always makes her bed after getting up, she always sets the table before meals, she always does her homework before playing...

Doctor: I see... Does she sometimes talk with her mouth full?

Mrs Thompson: Never!

Doctor: Does she always brush her teeth after meals?

Mrs Thompson: Oh yes, she never forgets.

Doctor: She is perfect. What's the problem?

Mrs Thompson: Well, the problem is... we must be perfect too... It's horrible!
