

Thursday night at the bowling

By Noémie Périard et Marion Jeanningros

We left school at 6.00 PM in order to take the bus which carried us to Ducky Kart. We all ate French fries and chicken at large tables. Then we had to change our shoes because to play bowling we need special shoes, which are funny because they look like clown's shoes. Several teams were made and each team was composed of six or seven people. So, as we were more than forty people we played on a lot of tracks. We could do only one game because we had to come back to the boarding house at half past ten.

Everybody was disappointed to leave. It was really a good night because we could speak more with the English and maybe become friends. Our correspondents were very nice and we laughed a lot with them. Everybody was relaxed, even the teachers!

Thanks to this experiment we could see that language is not a barrier for joking, speaking and making new friends.
