

You're watching watchmojo.com, I'm your host Alex and today we're gonna continue our city profiles, this time hitting up NYC. NYC is the largest city in the USA and one of the world's major global cities. Located in the state of New York, the city has a population of 8.2 million with an area of 321 square miles, making it the most densely populated city in North America. NYC is an international center for business, finance, fashion, medicine, entertainment, media and culture. This city is also home to the United Nations and to many of the world's most famous skyscrapers such as the Chrysler Building and the Empire State Building. Otherwise known as the Big Apple, and the City that never sleeps, the city attracts people from all over the globe who come for economic opportunity, culture and fast-paced cosmopolitan lifestyle.

NYC is located on the coast of the north-eastern United States, at the mouth of Hudson River and south-eastern New York state. New York has a humid continental climate resulting from prevailing wind patterns that bring cool air from the interior of the north-American continent. New York winters are typically cold with moderate snowfall averaging a total of two feet annually.

NYC is home to the most complex and extensive transportation networks in all of the United States, with more than 12,000 iconic yellow cabs, a hundred thousand daily bicyclists, subways, bus, railroad systems, immense airports, landmark bridges and tunnels, ferry services, and even an aerial commuter tramway.

The NYC subway is the largest subway system in the world measured by track mileage and it is also the world's fourth largest when measured by annual ridership.
