9. “Travel makes one modest. You see what a tiny place you occupy in the world.” – Gustave Flaubert

Flaubert continued Radmacher's wise observation in this insightful trip quote. I definitely used to think that my life, and my country, played a bigger role in the world until I packed up and hit the road.

17. "The world is a book, and those who do not travel read only one page." – Saint Augustine

We may feel safe in our little bubble, but it's also boring. That's the primary reason I started traveling several years ago, and I've fallen in love with the thrill of discovery. It doesn't get any more real than this short travel quote.

18. "Travel and change of place impart new vigor to the mind." – Seneca

When I travel, I'm able to give my mind something new and exciting to focus on. Studies say that we need to keep learning in order for our minds to thrive.

20. "With age, comes wisdom. With travel, comes understanding." – Sandra Lake

22. "Travel is the only thing you buy that makes you richer." – Anonymous

Money makes traveling a possibility, but it doesn't enrich you like sharing experiences with new cultures. I'm not sure who coined this inspirational travel quote, but they hit the nail on the head!

31. "When overseas you learn more about your own country, than you do the place you're visiting." – Clint Borgen

If you think your country does everything the right way and is revered by other nations, you'll definitely have those notions put to the test when you enter another country. I've learned so much about the way my nation is viewed on the international stage. This is the perfect travel quote for Instagram or Pinterest.

34. “Travel is never a matter of money, but of courage.” — Paulo Coelho

Yes, travel does require some money. However, you'll also need to gather enough courage to temporarily cast off everything about your daily life that makes it so comfortable — and boring.

38. “The more I traveled the more I realized that fear makes strangers of people who should be friends.” – Shirley MacLaine

This quote is as relevant today as it was when it was first uttered. People have an unfortunate tendency to claim others as their enemy without even getting to know them first. This is an issue that's propagated by fear of the unknown, and it has led to a lot of lost opportunities throughout history.

57. “Traveling is a brutality. It forces you to trust strangers and to lose sight of all that familiar comforts of home and friends. You are constantly off balance.

Cesare Pavese

62. “To travel is to live.” – Hans Christian Andersen

I grew up reading Anderson’s fairy tales but didn’t know about his travel writing until later. Now, I know that his many quotes about traveling truly captured the essence of why it’s so important to explore new areas.

70. “Travel far enough, you meet yourself.” – David Mitchell

David Mitchell’s best-selling novels typically involve traveling, as evidenced by this quote from “Cloud Atlas.” It’s difficult to get to know yourself when you’re stuck in the rut of normality. I always have the best self-awareness breakthroughs after a period of travel and inner reflection.

73. “Wherever you go becomes a part of you somehow.” – Anita Desai

Indian novelist Anita Desai nails this one with her inspiring quote about traveling. We’re all shaped by each of our experiences. I love it that every new adventure helps shape me for the better.

Final Thoughts On Traveling

Traveling is one of the best ways to open your mind and heart to the world. As a result, I've experienced the full range of emotions during my travels.

Although this has sometimes meant having my lifestyle and point of view challenged, I wouldn't give up a single second of it because it helped shape me into the person I am today. Travel can change your perspective.

Many of these quotes have inspired me to keep exploring our world.
