3.
   a) "Soon there would be nothing left to do but knock on church doors and seek lodging for the night." (Lines 2 and 3)
   In your own words say what his problem is and how he must be feeling.

4. "Turns out you're lucky." (Line 14)
   In your own words, say what chain of events makes Geiermeier lucky. (40 / 50 words)
   Because of the cold weather, Geiermeier preferred staying by the stove at the job centre and fell asleep. In a moment of compassion, the clerk let him sleep inside past the closing time. In the meantime, it started snowing heavily in New York, which blocked the streets.
5. Read from line 14 to line 19.
   Describe and explain Geiermeier's reaction to the clerk's words.
   First, Geiermeier doesn't understand the clerk's words, thinking that he should leave. It takes him a while to understand the job offer. Finally, he feels grateful for it.
6. Focus on what the clerk says from line 20 to 30.
   What does it reveal about his attitude towards Geiermeier? (2 elements)
   The clerk seems to be xenophobic and exasperated by Geiermeier's astonished look and slow reaction.
   l 20 "Is that a yes? You better stop speaking Dutch and learn some English."
   In addition, he is condescending and cynical.
   l 29 "You think you're man enough to shovel the city alone."
7. Focus on the passage from line 39 to the end.
   Why didn't Geiermeier get a job sooner? (40 words)
   Even if he had been called several times, he didn't recognize his name because the clerk was unable to read his handwriting and thus pronounce his name properly. Moreover, he fell asleep in the job centre as he had no place to go to.
   a) Read from line 55 to 57. Say what the clerk implicitly tells Geiermeier to do and explain why.

The clerk suggests that Geiermeier alter his name, adopt a clearer handwriting and learn English so as to fit in the American society.

b) Imagine Geiermeier's thoughts and reactions following the clerk's remark. (40 / 50 words) Geiermeier's feelings must have been hurt because he is really proud of his handwriting. He must have felt surprised and disappointed at the notion of having to alter his name and by so doing, betraying his genuine cultural identity, especially in a country known for its cultural diversity and open-mindedness.

- "T'étais là toute la journée. Tu t'es pas inscrit ? Tu vois pas qu'on est fermé ?" Il regarda autour de lui et s'aperçut que les autres bancs étaient vides et qu'il n'y avait plus personne dans la salle à part lui et l'employé du centre. Son optimisme s'évanouit. Cet homme le jetait dehors.
- "Pardon. Pardon. J'm'en vais".
- "Non, attends. En fait, t'as d'la chance. Tu vois, j't'ai seulement laissé ronfler à cause de c'temps pourri mais maintenant on dirait que c'est moi qui ai d'la chance. T'as vu cette neige ? Et bien, un gars de la voirie vient juste de regarder par la fenêtre et ils m'ont envoyé un jeune pour me demander de monter une équipe de déblayage cette nuit—juste au moment de la fermeture. Alors, qu'est-ce que t'en dis ? Déblayer d'la neige ? Le boulot te tente ?".
